Bargaining is set to commence at Anglicare.

What are your rights?

Your employer has sent you correspondence titled “Schedule 2.1- Notice of Employee Representational Rights”.

Your employer is obliged to send you this notice when they intend to commence the bargaining process in accordance with the Fair Work Act.

As a member of Together you are automatically represented by your Union. If you are not yet a Union member, now is a good time to join!

What is a Log of Claims?

The Log represents the responses from you in the survey which was finalised in June. The Log also encompasses items which need to be addressed to ensure your Agreement complies with the Fair Work Act, your Award and is simple and easy to use.

Your union Delegates are meeting to finalise your responses to the survey. These responses will form the Log of Claims and over the next few weeks there will be workplace meetings for you to attend, so that Union members can endorse the Log of claims.

What happens next?

- 1. Notice of Employee Representational Rights – you don't have to do anything if you are a union member, if you are not you can join on line at: www.together.org.au/join
- 2. Join the Union – no better time than right now!
- 3. Attend workplace meetings – to hear the latest and show your support for Delegates at the negotiating table.
